

Pastor's Ponderings

"But those who wait for the Lord shall renew their strength, they shall mount up with wings like eagles, they shall run and not be weary, they shall walk and not faint." Isaiah 40:31

I have been thinking a lot about hope. As I listen to the news trying to listen without my privileged cisgendered white male perspective, I get anxious for all the siblings in Christ that are trying to be the best version of themselves. As some people enter Pride month and as some people legitimately fear for their lives if asked to leave the USA or are forced to leave, they are on my mind, and I get scared for them.

Humans created in God's image should feel safe.

In the anxiety that I feel for many folks, I turn to scripture to try to find hope. Our Bible verse from Isaiah gives me hope and I hope it gives people patience, endurance and strength to carry on. For me, it describes a God who is there for all of God's people and is with us through it all.

Folks who are scared also need people to reach out to them to support them and tell them they are not alone. I encourage all to expand our circle of people we interact with to include those who are on the fringe, or on the outside of our circles, with support, friendship, prayer and inclusion.

Yours in Christ,

Mission for June: TOL’s Sandwich Team Ministry

“It has been three years since the start-up of the Sandwich Team Ministry at TOL. And the “team” is still going strong. It is really pleasing to know that over 15,000 sandwiches have been made and delivered so far to the Friends of Night People, an agency on Hudson Street in Buffalo. Thanks be to God that we can do this!

Five teams, and six teams in the summer, have been meeting weekly in the TOL kitchen on either Monday evenings or Tuesday mornings. The sandwich making takes only about 1½ hours weekly. We are told that the recipients are thankful and enjoy the sandwiches. FoNP, which distributes the sandwiches, are thankful for our help, and the volunteers enjoy getting together for a good cause and have a few laughs while doing it. So this is a WIN–WIN–WIN situation.”

My Musings
by Diane Schmidtke

Dandelion Tea

“Some see a weed; others see a wish.”

The dandelion is a metaphor for hope, strength, perseverance and resilience.

I just sat down to drink my very first cup of dandelion tea straight from our front yard! I've always loved dandelions, from the cute yellow flowers to the white puffs of wishes...

I realize they are an invasive species and can get out of hand, but I'm happy to let them feed the bees for a while as Spring gets underway.

Before mowing the lawn, I decide that they can also feed me; I look up a recipe for tea made from the flowers and brew my first cup. It is kind of an adventure: first the picking, then the washing, then the steeping in boiling water and finally, the straining. The taste is very mild. I add a teaspoon of honey. It doesn't "WOW" me, but it isn't at all objectionable...

So, as I sit here, looking out the front window, I feel the pride of a mission accomplished.

It is only now that I begin to picture all the people walking their dogs past our house, all the birds perching on the peach tree, all the bunnies scampering across the lawn, all the squirrels playing tag...

Hmm...

This may be my first and my last cup of dandelion tea...

Ask God to guide and strengthen our work of including all people in the church and society.
- † World Refugee Day On this day (June 20), we honor the courage and resilience of refugees and immigrants, and work to build empathy and support for people who have fled their home countries because of conflict, natural disaster or economic crisis. Give thanks that we can respond together through AMMPARO Migrant Ministry, ELCA World Hunger, Lutheran Disaster Response, Global Refuge and Lutheran social service organizations.
- † Lift up prayers of joy and thanksgiving for the first day of summer in the Northern Hemisphere (June 20). Give thanks for longer days, growing crops and opportunities to enjoy the outdoors — gifts from God that awaken our senses and lift our spirits.
- † Pray for Seafarers International House in New York City, a mission affiliated with the ELCA that has served mariners and immigrants since 1873. Remember in prayer seafarers who work under difficult and dangerous conditions and are isolated from family, friends and faith communities for long periods.

Adult Ed. Classes with Charlie Schmidtke
Study Notes: Jesus and Judas

Part I: Who was Thomas?

Thomas was called Didymus, the twin. (Thomas' followers sometimes claimed he was Jesus' twin. He may have looked like Jesus or he actually had a twin who may not have been a disciple or he actually was Jesus' twin as the Hindu Christians believe.) He was a practical, no-nonsense type. He and Judas may have seemed a lot alike. However, Judas seems to have become a zealot—that is, believed in militant Judaism. Thomas was more like Jesus—peaceful. Judas lost faith in the apostles, but probably never lost his faith in Jesus. Thomas probably never really had faith in the apostles either. They were weak and cowardly. They were dreamers and rather self-centered—one of the reasons he left for Syria and moved on to India and never returned. He also may have gone to India because Jesus told him that he was the chosen apostle to go to India and become the apostle to bring Jesus' message to the Hindu people (as was prophesied by Jesus' yogi instructors). He was the founder of the original Christian church in India.

Thomas was not learned and clearly had trouble with understanding the parables and Jesus' stories. I think he disliked the endless debates the apostles had while traveling with Jesus. Jesus was a teacher and Thomas was a lousy student until Pentecost. Thomas wanted right and wrong, facts. He needed to be shown things that he could see or touch. He was a carpenter by trade and was comfortable working with his hands, not with thinking about parables and the meaning of miracles. (His followers use this fact of his carpenter background as an explanation for why Thomas and Jesus were twins. The problem is why isn't he listed with Jesus' other siblings in the Gospels?) I believe Thomas saw Jesus as a special person who had charisma. He saw Jesus as gentle, patient, and kind. Thomas always trusted Jesus and accepted his own shortcomings. He always responded with faithful service to anything Jesus asked. I do not believe he should be called a doubter. Here's why.

Two months before Calvary, Jesus' friend Lazarus was dying. All the other apostles were opposed to going toward Jerusalem so Jesus could see Lazarus. They were afraid—and justifiably so. They weren't going to go to Jerusalem at first, rather, they were actually going to Bethany where Lazarus, Mary and Martha lived. Bethany is in Judea across the Mount of Olives from Jerusalem. The following gospel passage by John illustrates who the truly faithful apostle was. By the way, John probably did not like Thomas because they were so different. John was gentle; Thomas was rough. John was educated; Thomas was not. John was young and impressionable; Thomas was more mature and worldly. Read this passage: John 11: 7-16.

The apostles did not want to go with Jesus. Thomas probably thought it was a crazy idea because of the hostility in Jerusalem and Judea toward Jesus by the Jewish authorities. But once Jesus spoke clearly, Thomas did not hesitate. Thomas, whose nickname was 'Twin,' said to the other disciples, "Come on. Let's go, so we can die with him." Thomas never hesitated when Jesus spoke. He rarely jumped when the apostles spoke and probably did not think they were strong enough to be Jesus' messengers.

The Last Supper would have been confusing for him and the other apostles. They probably drank too much. They thought it was a celebration because of the triumphant march into Jerusalem and Jesus going to the temple and overturning the money changers' tables. They felt as if they were on top of the world and ready for Jesus to ascend to his title of Messiah. However, Jesus talked in such strange ways at the meal (according to the passages of John). Thomas may have noticed that Judas was acting funny while all the others were happy, because they thought this was the start of something big. For the militants, they thought that Jesus would call all the people to take up arms and free the Jews from Roman control—maybe some thought he would unseat the Jewish leaders and put some of them in charge.

During the supper, Jesus kept talking about going to the Father and razing, then building the temple. No one had any idea what he was talking about. None of what he said at the Last Supper became clear to the apostles until Pentecost.

Jesus' death was the worst day of the apostles' lives. It was scary and tragic. All the hope and promises were dashed in a whirlwind of trials, anger and brutality. All of the apostles except John were cowardly. Thomas would have been ashamed that he was no better than Peter or the others—they all cowered and hid. Only John stayed by Mary's side. I think Thomas felt for Judas. As he thought about events, he probably saw that Judas was driven by Jesus to do what he did. Judas wanted Jesus to lead a rebellion against the Romans. He never understood that Jesus could never do such a thing—nor would he even condone such a thing. In the next issue we will continue the story of Thomas and Jesus.
